BIO

Meet Pietro Girardi, the musical maestro hailing from the picturesque city of Venice (Italy)! With his eclectic pianism, Pietro has been captivating audiences with his genre-bending performances, ranging from pop to Latin jazz to contemporary jazz and fusion since the mid-'90s.

He's no stranger to the spotlight, having graced the stages of some of the biggest festivals in Italy like Ubi Jazz, Veneto Jazz, and Venice Jazz Festival, to name a few.

But it doesn't stop there: Pietro is also a prolific recording artist, having released multiple records both as a solo artist and as a sideman. His record "Morning" (in the Jazz-Fusion genre) won an international contest and was featured in JAZZIZ magazine's sampler CD in 2012, and in 2014, another one of his tracks from the record "Home" was featured in the same magazine.

MOST POPULAR WORKS

With his passion for music, Pietro never stops learning, and he earned a master's degree in jazz piano after a four-year hiatus. His latest records, "Memories of the Last Century" and "Inside-Out" were both released in 2018 and were received with glowing reviews from critics.

Pietro has also received accolades for his education, including a scholarship to attend the Berklee Summer School at Umbria Jazz, where he had the opportunity to study with some of the most prominent jazz faculty members from Berklee. He also holds a diploma in Music Theory from the Conservatory of Ferrara and graduated summa cum laude in Jazz Piano from the Conservatory of Venice, where he was also awarded the Peggy Guetta Finzi grant.

Not one to rest on his laurels, Pietro has been composing music for video productions, including short movies, commercials, and promotional videos, for Italian and international clients since 2012, with over 300 licenses sold.

Pietro is now exploring his indie singer/songwriter side and has been working on a new project called "5 Songs in 5 Genres" set to release in 2023. With his remarkable talent and commitment to music, it's no wonder that he joined the American Society of Composers, Authors, and Publishers (ASCAP) as a composer and publisher in 2021. Pietro Girardi is a force to be reckoned with in the music industry, and he's just getting started.
